

Do House Jobs
On Weekend — Hydro

Newmarket—A meeting of women, representing the various organizations in Newmarket, was told that the householders are the chief offenders in the drive to conserve hydro power by Newmarket hydro officials on Wednesday afternoon. The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. W. L. Bosworth.

"It is essential that you do your baking, washing and ironing on Saturday and Sunday because Niagara and Beauharnois power is being used and it is not rationed," they were told. "Through the week, Gattineau power is used, and it is severely rationed."

Newmarket—Tribute was paid to Newmarket's war dead this morning when the Newmarket Veterans' Association, the Canadian Legion, and the Newmarket trumpet band paraded to the Christian church for a Remembrance Day service.

The Veterans' Association paraded to the new memorial at the cemetery at 9 a.m. where President Doug May read the honor roll, Padre Arthur D. Evans conducted a short service and Alf Smith spoke on the memorial plot which was obtained ten years ago almost to the same date. At the memorial, wreaths were laid by A. Elphinstone, veteran of two world wars, Cecil Jarvis for the Legion, Mayor Jos. Vale for the town, Deputy-Reeve J. L. Spillette for the province, Bill Blight for Davis Leather, Mac Macdonald for Canadian Hoffman Machinery Co. and a wreath was laid by the Dixon Pencil Co.

The Veterans' Association and the Canadian Legion then paraded to the 1914-18 cenotaph and to the Haines Memorial for South African veterans. At the cenotaph for 1914-18 veterans, Rev. Henry Cotton led in prayer. Wreaths were laid there by Morton Bros., Deputy-Reeve J. L. Spillette, the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Canadian Legion, Sangamo Electric employees, the Canadian Legion, the town of Newmarket and the Newmarket Veterans' Association. At the South African memorial the Silver Cross Mothers and the Newmarket Veterans laid wreaths.

At the Congregational-Christian church a service was held after a two-minute silence at 11 a.m. Rev. Cotton, padre of the Legion, held a prayer and the scriptures were read by Arthur D. Evans, padre of the Newmarket Veterans' Association. K. Morton sang "Benediction" by Hamblen, and Rev. F. Breckon gave the sermon "They shall not die."

Twenty-eight members of the Veterans' Association paraded with the Bugle Band to the cemetery with Councillors Morrison, Spillette and Renzius, and Mayor Vale, and three disabled veterans followed by bus. Canadian Legion members at the cenotaph numbered 45 with six members of the Ladies' Auxiliary.

Brice's Combines Meats
Groceries In New Store

Newmarket — The business stand known as Brice's Better Meat Market moved last week-end from 46 M. in St. to the new store at 18 Main St., four doors south. Owner Howard Brice said he will carry on the grocery department with the meat business, making a complete market at the new site.

Mr. Brice bought the former Molynaux grocery store nearly a year ago and operated it as a grocery store. Refrigeration and cooling systems and modern counters have been moved in.

Davis Brothers End
Connection With Firm

Newmarket — Elected to the board of directors of the Davis Leather Co. recently were Kaspar Fraser, K.C., Toronto, and George P. Watt, Montreal, who succeeded Aubrey Davis, Andrew Davis and E. J. Davis.

At the time of the sale of Davis Leather, the Davis brothers agreed to continue to serve for a period and have now resigned. The newly appointed general manager is Douglas J. Hutchings, Winnipeg, who was with the Great West Saddlery Co., Winnipeg, for 30 years.

Aurora Veterans
Parade To Church

Commercial Users
Make 6 1/2% Saving

Newmarket—Commercial consumers of electric power were told at a meeting with the hydro commission on Tuesday night that they had made an approximate six and one-half percent reduction since August, according to accounts checked. There were 17 people attending the meeting out of a possible 240 commercial consumers in Newmarket. Among those present there was talk of organizing a committee to see what could be done to cut the commercial consumption.

The six and one-half percent reduction by commercial users since the quota came into effect stands against a 30 percent allowance reduction from the pre-quota consumption which is necessary to come down to the present quota. The daily average before the quota was 28,700 kwh. and the quota is now 18,700. The daily average of the week ending Nov. 5 was 21,270.

Aurora—On Sunday an impressive Remembrance Day ceremony was observed in Aurora. The weather, clear and cool, was ideal. Forming at the town park at 1.30 p.m., the parade marched to the cenotaph at the south end of town where wreaths were laid and a two-minute silence observed in a tribute to fallen comrades of the two world wars. The parade then went to the Aurora United church where a service was conducted by Aurora clergyman. Following the service, the parade marched up Yonge St. past the post office, where the salute was taken by a Canadian staff officer, Mayor Dr. C. Ross, Aurora, and the reeves of King and Whitechurch twps. The parade then returned to the town park where it was dismissed.

The parade included Aurora Girl Guides and Cubs, the Aurora fire department, the Queen's York Rangers, the Queen's York Rangers Ladies' Auxiliary, a contingent of St. Andrew's College cadets and pipe band, the veterans of Aurora and district, the Canadian Legion Ladies' Auxiliary and the Aurora high school cadets and cadet band.

A Sacred Hour Struck
How Many Observed It?

Newmarket—The Specialty whistle blew at 11 a.m. today as the chimes of the post office clock tolled the hour of remembrance. In front of the post office, a little group of men and children stiffened into respectful attention. Across the street, others bowed their heads.

Up and down Main St., in front of the clerk's office, in front of the firehall where spectators still lingered after watching the veterans parade to the Christian church, there was the silence, the brief pause of rededication. Yet these were the exceptions, not the rule. There was no pause in traffic. One man left the post office and walked up the street to his truck, heedless of the moment. Another strolled casually by the more reverent.

Then the whistle blew again, the end of the two-minute silence. Where groups had shared the moment, there was movement as they went their separate ways. They had remembered, but how many others ignored the hour?

Fire Destroys Home
Owners Lose All

Aurora—Early Saturday morning, the farmhouse of Lyle Wells, situated near the third concession of King on the CPRB side-road, was completely destroyed by fire. The house, a seven-room frame dwelling, contained all the personal belongings of the Wells in addition to their furniture and 200 jars of preserves. The loss is estimated by Mr. Wells at over $6,000. "The insurance won't begin to cover it," he said.

The fire was first noticed by Lloyd Fowler of Snowball as he was walking north on the third concession around 12.45 a.m. Spotting a red glow which silhouetted the dwelling against the cloudy sky he quickly notified Mr. Wells and the Aurora Fire Department. Although they responded in record time, the firemen were unable to save the building. Slogging through heavy mud in a pouring rain they attempted to keep the fire from spreading but were hampered by lack of water.

The origin of the fire is unknown. The house had not been lived in for the past three weeks. Mr. Wells staying at the home of his son, Merion, nearby. Mr. Wells and his son had been in the house around supper-time Friday evening and had found everything in order. "We kept no fires on in the place," said Mr. Wells, "and the lamps were all out. I'm at a complete loss to explain it."

David Wilson Lepard
Has 85th Birthday

Newmarket — David Wilson Lepard, who lives at the corner of Charlotte and North Main Sts., celebrated his 85th birthday at his home Nov. 3 when he was host to friends at a fowl dinner. He received many cards in remembrance of the occasion.

The son of Silas Lepard who was an adherent of the Davidites, Mr. Lepard was born in or near Sharon. He lived at Queensville, Maple Hill, Zephyr, and later moved to Yonge St. where he farmed the property known as the John Millard farm. He retired to where he now lives.

Mr. Lepard well recalls being present at the illumination of the Sharon Temple under the leadership of David Wilson. He is enjoying very good health. He married Mary Jane Weller who predeceased him four years ago. His son, Conrad H., formerly of Toronto and West Hill, lives with him. Among those present for the birthday dinner were Mr. and Mrs. S. Kirton, and Mrs. Eva Maud Lepard.

'Aid To Britain'
Plans Campaign

Newmarket—The Aid to Britain committee, which has sent to U.K. almost 700 food parcels since it was organized, has exhausted its funds and a campaign for fresh funds will be carried on from November 14 to December 5 in conjunction with the national campaign of the United Emergency Fund for Britain. This organization, national in scope, has been set up to receive food and clothing from depots across Canada, to purchase bulk foodstuffs, and to transport it to the sea-board. The British government will pay for transportation overseas for distribution under U.E.F.B. advisory council.

As a result of the organization of the U.E.F.B., the Newmarket committee will be able to send more food and clothing overseas at lower cost because of the free transportation.

Contributions to the Newmarket committee can be made to the three banks, Bank of Toronto, Bank of Montreal, and the Dominion Bank, to the town clerk, Wesley Brooks, and to The Era and Express.

Newmarket—There will be a Santa Claus parade Dec. 11, it was decided at a meeting of the executive of the Chamber of Commerce Monday night in the Bank of Toronto.

Delbert Gibney is the new president, following the resignation of Peter Gorman who had been elected last spring. Along with the Santa Claus parade, plans are underway to decorate Main St. with evergreens to impart a seasonal atmosphere to the shopping district. Other committees are being formed to handle the various parts of the parade, which in its preliminary stages, looks to be the largest Newmarket will have ever had.

A survey of business opinion on closing hours during the Christmas season is underway on Main St. and it is expected that as a result of the poll, a definite schedule of business hours can be established.

Newmarket — R. C. "Bert" Morrison made one of the longest trips in this year's records to go hunting a few weeks ago. Mr. Morrison flew to James Bay and back to do some goose shooting. The goose were scarce but the trip was fine, according to Mr. Morrison.

Lions Told Singapore Story
By Former Captive Of Japs

Newmarket—The colorful recollections of a veteran of the far eastern theatre gave Newmarket Lions one of their most pleasant evenings as the club held its Remembrance night meeting at St. Paul's parish hall. Introduced by K. M. R. Silver, Dr. Jacob Markowitz, professor of physiology at the University of Toronto, told of some of his experiences as a prisoner of the Japanese following the fall of Singapore. Dr. J. G. Cook was chairman.

Present at the meeting were members of the executives of the two veterans' organizations, the Legion and the Veterans' Association, with their respective presidents, Hunt Taylor and Doug May.

Although humorous anecdotes were numerous, Dr. Markowitz paid a lengthy tribute to the British soldier, by which he meant the soldiers of the British Commonwealth, than which he said there were no finer.

He told of the discussions in the prison camp where he was

Put Screws On Local Hydros,
Told To Reach Quota Daily
Or Cut Off Until Saving Made

Aurora — Unless Aurora reaches its new quota immediately, it will be faced with further drastic cuts, Hydro Superintendent Charles Copland disclosed on Wednesday. These new cuts will probably consist of two more one-hour cuts, one during the day and one in the evening.

Aurora has not, as yet, reached its new quota of 16,800 kilowatt hours, although it is now below the old quota of 18,200. The new quota must be reached by the first of next week. At that time, the Ontario Hydro Commission will check on each municipality daily. If at 2 p.m. a municipality appears to be exceeding its quota, it will be required to institute whatever cuts are necessary to bring it within 102 percent of its quota by 10 p.m. that evening. Aurora's industries have borne the brunt of the shortages so far. Following recent meetings between local industries and the Aurora hydro, a number of changes have been instituted. The hours of the Collis Leather Company are now 5 a.m. to 3 and 4 p.m., while Canadian Anodized Products started a night shift on Thursday evening.

Aurora's recent 5-6 p.m. cut, followed closely by an early evening hydro cut in Toronto, has caused the sale of gasoline and kerosene lamps to skyrocket in Aurora. All Aurora hardware stores report themselves to be practically cleaned out of kerosene lamps and unable to obtain more. While a few gas lamps and lanterns are still to be had, even these are none too plentiful. By and large the supply of lamps and lanterns of both types cannot keep up with the present demand for them in Aurora. Aurora citizens appear to have adapted themselves to the recent 5-6 p.m. hydro cut quite rapidly. Evening meals are now ready sharp at 5 p.m. and are eaten in the pioneer-like atmosphere of lamp and candle light.

Newmarket — The luck of the Irish was with Ray Jelley last Saturday afternoon. At the Newmarket Lawn Bowling club's tournament he was the winner, taking two chickens for first prize. But two chickens were not enough for him. There were some birds left over after the tournament and three separate draws were held for them. Ray won all three. Two individuals pulled out the tickets in the first two draws and after Mr. Jelley won them both, he was requested to draw for himself on the last one. He drew his own name, making a total of five chickens.

Taxes High? Not For Times

Newmarket — With the approach of the nomination date for town council candidates, The Era and Express has been attempting to sound out various citizens on their reactions toward the conduct of municipal affairs.

Last week citizens were questioned on what they thought would be the most important town improvement. This week some citizens were asked (1) Do you think the tax rates are high in Newmarket for the benefits received? (2) Do you disagree with a policy of lowering the tax rate during a time when rate-payers' incomes are high?

The impressions of this reporter from talking to various townspeople during the surveys is that interest in the political fate of Newmarket has a slight edge over that of last year. That, however, is not saying much. Sadly we reflect on the stories that there were days before our time when municipal politics were held in an atmosphere of fire and brimstone.

The above questions were a stimulus to a few citizens who responded with opinions while others claimed they did not know enough about it. The following are some answers:

"Yes they are too high for the benefits received. I think taxes should fluctuate with the times, that is with the degree that money is in circulation. While rate-payers are in the money, taxes should be raised so that the town will not be in a serious position. "I abhor a situation where the rate is high and the result is making mud puddles out of Fairley Lake."

"Taxes should be raised when money is in good circulation. Municipalities have been known to lower their tax rate in boom times when other revenue is coming in due to this boom period. But later in the time when there is not a boom period, the municipality finds there is no longer sufficient revenue coming in. That is the time when it is difficult to raise the tax rate and when problems arise. It is easier to have them high now and lower them later than vice versa."

"The question naturally brings to mind our own municipality. A few years ago taxes were dropped at a time when they never should have been. I think it was in the war years when everybody was doing all right. As a result, they jumped the following years. Our taxes don't bring the benefits they should now because for a couple of decades they were kept down by policy and improvements lagged. A vote-getting practice, I guess. As a result, there is so much to be done to improve the town now, that the tax rate does not show much."

Last year there were little over 100 people at the nomination meetings, not much more than two percent of Newmarket's population.

Veterans Told Of Need
To Fight For Values

Rev. H. S. Warren
For 'Alliance' Here

Newmarket — The Lord's Day Alliance is represented this year by Rev. H. S. Warren, B.A. This organization is recognized widely as one performing valuable national and community service in safe-guarding the national weekly day of rest for Canadian workers, and the freedom of our Canadian Sunday from commercial exploitation. The opportunities for Christian worship and spiritual culture are likewise important, but these are questions for individual decision and attitude. In any event the leisure and quiet of this one day of the week are of real value, individually and collectively.

Pay Tribute To
York Historian

Tribute was paid to Dr. J. B. Tyrrell, Toronto and Agincourt, by the York Pioneer and Historical Society at its recent meeting which was on the day following Dr. Tyrrell's 80th birthday. The society's tribute was expressed in a resolution moved by Major J. C. Boylen, one of the executive committee, and W. E. Hanna, formerly principal of Oakwood Collegiate Institute.

Dr. Tyrrell's "long life of useful achievement in Canada" as geologist, geographer and historian was recalled. But it was to him as a native son of York County that the society particularly paid tribute. Dr. Tyrrell is a life member of the society. His father, William Tyrrell, was the

UNION ST.

Union Street — Thirty-five ladies were present at the November meeting of the Union Street Institute at the home of Mrs. Willard Cryderman last Thursday. The meeting took the form of a grandmothers' meeting. Twelve ladies attended, attired in costumes of the gay nineties and looked quaint and charming. Mrs. Lea Glover was awarded first prize and Mrs. Stanley Shanks second for the best dressed "grandmothers". The roll call, name or display an article used in our grandmothers' day, was well responded to and many interesting articles and their histories were shown.
A representative from the Institute department will show pictures at Maple Hill school on Friday, evening, Nov. 19, at 8 o'clock. Everybody welcome and the ladies will please provide lunch. The program opened with community singing followed by an old favorite Put on Your Old Grey Bonnet, sung by three grandmothers, Mrs. F. Graham, Mrs. F. Perry and Mrs. O. Diceman. Mrs. W. Micks read a collection of old sayings and proverbs. A fine paper on family relations was given by Mrs. Ernie Burgess. ## I WANT TO KNOW

Am I too old to buy life insurance?

The middle-aged man who asked this question feared that at his age the cost of life insurance would be prohibitive... but even were he much older, Mutual low-cost life insurance would still prove good business.

Unfortunately many people realize the importance of life insurance only when through age or other disability they are no longer able to secure it. A life insurance programme should be started as early in life as possible.

Consult your Mutual Life of Canada man today.

THE EDITOR'S

odds and ends of note and fancy

By THE EDITOR

President Truman's victory was a triumph of persistence against heavy odds. It was also a victory of the voter over the pollster, and with no intent to belittle the president's accomplishment, we think the voter's win of equal importance.

The voter's triumph is a triumph of individual choice over the growing tendency to abstract from the individual all the variety of shades which color his actions and make them different from those of his fellows, and present him instead as a creature of black and white.

Calling the roll in advance has its advantages. The results offer a guide to future developments, but a guide only. The pollsters' fault was that they assumed too much infallibility for their methods and results. Yet they were bound to do so. Such is the tendency of this age. Everything about it is directed towards a more complete organization of individuals into groups which move and act as one.

The extreme of this development is the astounding gall with which a survey organization in New York recently announced that they were prepared to guarantee a best seller for publishing houses. The author would submit a rough draft of his proposed story. It would be circulated through a cross-section of the public. Their approval or disapproval of the plot would be tabulated and recommended changes sent to the author. Then he need only rewrite his book to conform with the findings of the poll — and lo! A best seller is "created".

Our civilization is founded on a decent respect for the dignity of the individual. And as discouraging as it may sometimes be, a voter's fickleness is very much to be respected since it is the extension of his right to choose as he wishes, to accept or reject whatever influences are brought to bear on him, whatever arguments are used to persuade him.

His rejection of the pollster's assurances that he was bound to vote in a certain way in certain numbers was a resounding re-statement of that right. It was a declaration that despite the shackles with which 20th century organization might seek to restrain him, he was still his own man.

From the Files of the ERA and EXPRESS
of 25 and 50 years ago

The Era and Express of 25 years ago tells how, in a History of Christ church (Anglican) at Roche's Point, Rev. Walter Stennett, M.A., resigned from the principalship of Upper Canada College, Toronto, because of ill health and went to Roche's Point in 1861. Mr. Stennett used to spend his summers there and as there was no church in the township of North Gwillimbury he conducted divine service in a school house. When Mr. Stennett set up permanent residence he determined to build a small church and set about collecting funds for the purpose. Half an acre of land was given by his father, Wm. Stennett, and regular services were immediately begun in a barn belonging to Col. Alfred Wyndham.

The cornerstone of the present church was laid by Rev. Walter Stennett, the first rector, in July, 1862. The entire building as it is today was completed under his personal superintendence without architect or contractor, and was ready for divine service on January 1, 1863. A harmonium costing $124 was bought and paid for in 1863. The fencing was completed and vines planted around the church. The bell, still in use, was presented by Capt. Isaac May in 1863. Rev. Stennett moved to Cobourg in 1866, and the mission of Roche's Point was without a regular clergyman until 1868 when Rev. Jas. Morton was appointed. Rev. Johnstone Vicars was the third rector of Christ church.

In 1878 Rev. Wm. Jupp was appointed but resigned in 1880. He was followed by Rev. J. H. Turton who built the rectory. Rev. Christopher Roler Bell, Mus. Bac., was appointed the sixth rector of Christ church in 1883. Rev. Bell gathered subscriptions and added the east wing to the rectory. He was assisted in the undertaking by the liberality of Mrs. R. H. Bethune, Mrs. E. B. Osler and Mrs. John Kay. Rev. Bell served for over 12 years.

Although it was raining last Saturday morning for a while there was a large market, particularly in poultry, and prices were good, according to the files of 50 years ago. Dressed chickens sold from 30 to 50 cents per pair, dressed turkeys seven and eight cents a lb. Butter was down a little, from 14 to 16 cents. Fresh eggs were firm at 18 cents, packed eggs sold at 15 and 16 cents a doz. Potatoes were plentiful at 50 cents a bag and apples were from ten to 20 cents a basket.

Messrs. Lawrie Cane and Thomas Traviss got back from the north on Saturday night bringing two deer and a lot of partridge with them.

Dr. Penn Lundy, son of J. C. Lundy, Newmarket, received an appointment as U.S. army surgeon and is now located at Camp Shipp, Alabama.

The inside of the post office has been remodelled this week, giving more room for the general public and the postmaster. The entire front is being torn out and replaced with a more modern one.

THE OLD HOME TOWN By STANLEY

In Our Opinion:

There will be a Santa Claus parade in Newmarket on December 11. This is the decision of the Chamber of Commerce following a meeting on Monday night.

The decision carries with it more than anticipation of a Christmas event. It means that the Chamber of Commerce, an association so greatly needed on Main St., is at last answering the demand which revived it last spring from its wartime dormancy.

However, the promise of long-awaited action is not enough. A Chamber of Commerce, to function efficiently for the benefit of all, requires the whole-hearted support of everyone. That support has slowly withered in the past eight months as time passed with no indication of life in the executive. It must be revived now to make the Chamber of Commerce effective.

The executive has taken the first step. It will not be too much a drain on Main Street's patience to ask businessmen to support this first step. The Chamber of Commerce is not out of the woods yet but Monday night's action shows that the effort is being made, and with the support of all, it will be successful.

More Consistent Course

President Truman has gained in stature by his victory at the polls. Lacking even the confidence of his own party, he led a clean sweep of Democrats into every phase of legislative activity to the confusion of the pollsters and an indeterminate postponement of hopes for a Republican resurgence. Canadians will share in hailing the victory as that of the common man.

Canada's interest in the United States' choice of president is more than neighborly. The United States is the world's greatest power. The actions of her president will affect the course of world affairs more than those of any other man. While admiring President Truman as an indomitable fighter, they have, however, cause for doubt of his political wisdom. His turn and turn-about on Palestine, and his pre-election bobbles, that proposal to send his personal emissary to talk things over with Stalin — are not the kind of thinking which inspires confidence.

President Truman now has the congressional support he lacked. He has met and passed the severe test of public opinion. Canada will watch to see if his election victory will have instilled in him that confidence which will lead to a more consistent course in foreign affairs.

No Room For Indifference

The hydro power shortage has been the cause of much inconvenience to all. To businessmen, it represents financial loss. It has added hazards to living, reduced the measure of comfort which we have learned to accept as our right. For all of this, we wonder if everyone fully realizes how serious the shortages are.

After the first shock of having the power supply cut, there has been a gradual return to the normal state of affairs which relies upon "George" to do it. A recent Monday, with many industries closed, power consumption soared to near its normal peak. It is not underestimating the power consumption of that day to say that had industry been fully operative, power consumption would be within an eyelash of normal.

The demand for power is growing as the supply of power, represented by the water supply, decreases. There is no hint of an early improvement in power supply. Before the threat of drastic action — one municipality had its power cut off for a day — no effort to save can be too great.

The majority of Newmarket residents have responded to the best of their ability to the appeal for self-saving. There remains, however, the hard core of indifference in a minority. The fact that this indifference can spell the application of extreme measures to enforce power-saving, means nothing to them.

The power situation is most desperate. Indifference is a luxury which no one can afford. Newmarket has a long way to go to consistently achieve its quota.

The pioneer, his night lit by the warm, steady flame of his lamp, and his food cooking in the fireplace, little dreamed of the wonders of hydro — and if he could see us now, he would still choose his lamp and his fireplace.

Letters To The Editor

The editor: The "Farm Forum" season is well advanced but I have yet to see any reports of local forum meetings. Do you not believe in printing this sort of news? It seems to me that it is the duty of the weekly paper to carry these reports.

"Disappointed Subscriber"

Editor's Note: We share in the subscriber's disappointment. We would be happy to print reports of the local farm forum activities, but we are not sent the secretary's reports, and it is impossible for us to cover these meetings ourselves. If the forum secretaries would send us regular reports, we would be glad to print them.

The editor: As I travel around Ontario I see many towns smaller than Newmarket and farther from the beaten path which manage to provide high-class entertainment to the citizens. They have good concert artists, speakers on topics of national importance and various kinds of study groups.

To the best of my knowledge, Newmarket has none of these advantages, advantages which can be had so easily at that. Possibly it is the lack of an auditorium — the town hall being what it is — but even so, there is the high school auditorium.

A public-spirited organization handling the bookings and the ticket sales would have a lot of support.

Other Editors' Opinions

Fort Erie Times — It is quite possible that the government may take the rash decision to permit margarine to be sold in Canada, and take a chance with the farm vote. It is also quite possible that Canada may be able to buy margarine, since, after all, this is one of the richest countries in the world, and can certainly get a supply of fats to make margarine, even if that leaves poorer countries short.

The fact is, however, that margarine is merely a temporary solution of what is becoming a serious problem.

It is not a case of a shortage of butter only. It is a question of a shortage of milk, and that means, in the end, a shortage of cheese, ice cream, condensed milk, cream and fluid milk.

Butter production is falling because the milk output is falling. In the first six months of this year, production of milk was down more than three percent compared with the first six months of last year, and, while floods in British Columbia did some damage, there was, in general, as good weather this year as last year.

One striking fact is that the amount of milk used for ice cream, candy and other luxury articles, went up, while the volume of milk used for butter and cheese went down.

The Socialists always say that they will solve all economic problems by planning. It would be most interesting to get even a vague idea from them about what they would do in this case.

In reality, dairy experts point out, this is all the result of planning. No product has been more completely controlled by the government for these last nine years than milk and other dairy commodities. Do the Socialists mean to suggest that the present planners have not been good and that they would replace them by other planners? They certainly cannot mean to do any more planning than has been done.

It would be uncomfortable to have the prices of dairy products, already high, rise more, but it is a fairly safe bet that these are going to rise in comparison with other prices or that the shortage of dairy products is going to get worse and worse.

The Stouffville Tribune—Lower income taxes are almost a certainty after the next budget in the spring, according to Hon. J. J. McCann, minister of national revenue, speaking in Thessalon on Saturday.

His statement seemed to confirm a report in Ottawa that the cabinet is agreed that major tax cuts must be made.

Nearing a Dominion election, one can take it for granted the Liberals would not dare to submit themselves to the electorate of Canada with the present tax burden the people have to carry. The pity is no relief is in sight until the politicians begin to put their house in order for a favorable election.

CAT-NIPS By GINGER

BEING the MUSINGS
of A LITERATE office CAT

boss i have been finding some interesting material for a story out behind the office last sunday night i was chasing a howling tom off a back fence i looked down over the hill and beheld the community council of rats in session adjacent to the railway tracks it seemed like all ratdom had gathered that night i crept down the side of the hill tapped an usher on the shoulder and raised my eyebrows questioninglly

the rats from the north end dump he said have long been warring with the rats from the middelfield park area at the south end of town since the great fairley lake excavations started many of the south enders have been driven out of their homes and are seeking new ones in the north end dump

i see it all now i said a great hegira of refugee rats moving from the south to the north

yes and now there is a great political squabble about territorial rights for two months now a cold war has been going on and the peace settlement sessions don't get us anywhere

you should have seen all those poker faced rats boss you probably thought that everything gets dead around here after working hours didn't you why i could supply you with seven columns of reportorial jargon on night activities around here it makes me mad too boss that its always the humans that get into the news not a sound came out of those poker faced rats during the opening of the sessions then there was a resounding outburst of applause as the honorable member from the charles street sewer rose to his feet to address the house the honorable member from the charles street sewer was the popular choice in the central ward which followed a middle of the road policy

he cleared his throat mister speaker it is time we rid this house of such members as that red tinged humbakkulid idiot from the waterworks riding he said followed by loud throaty howls and stamping of feet and what's more he continued it is those bloated capitalists from the north that are causing the other half of the trouble at that instant a small closely knitted group at the back row stood up waving a red flag and sang the opening bar of the international

my friend the usher nudged me and whispered thats the member they call the silver tongued orator from charles street he is a liberal with mild socialistic leanings but anti red he is simply hated by main street business rats they are the big money interests you know why yes thats so isnt it i said

but this is neither here nor there the honorable silver tongued continued i suggest to you that that eminent peace-maker count polkadotte be put in charge of the department of peace and be named mediator between the north end rats and the south end rats until we can find a common dump to be shared by all free rats

another outburst of applause including the small group at the back who stood up waving a flag and shouted the second bar of the international and the whole shouted long live free rats so ended the session with count polkadotte as their only hope count polkadotte the peacemaker made a survey of the south end territory on monday morning a survey of the north end territory on monday afternoon held a conference with political heads tuesday morning met in camera tuesday afternoon and was assassinated tuesday night

all this brings to my mind boss that the ants and bees settled problems of living together long ago and rats and humans are still groping

OF THE SOIL

Opinions of a North York Farmer

By "BACK CONCESSION"

Editor's note: This is the first appearance of the column, The Top Six Inches of the Soil. Written by a local farmer, it will not necessarily represent the views of the editor. It is not intended as a column of instruction, but it is hoped that through it, farm readers of The Era and Express will get a fresh viewpoint on some of their problems. It is also hoped that no reader will hesitate to write Back Concession, care of The Era and Express, when he differs from the columnist.

Food, clothing and shelter all come from the top six inches of the soil. The farmer is the start of all these things. A calf is dropped and oftentimes, it has to be carried by the farmer from the field. In cold weather it has to be dried and warmed. This is the start of many pairs of boots.

The lamb is born and the farmer has to be on the job day and night. Often the ewe will not own her offspring. This is the start of our warm woolen clothing.

Farmers in other lands sow and care for the cotton plant. From it we have our cotton goods. The mulberry leaves feed the silk worm and so our silk is begun.

Part of agriculture today is planting and caring for trees which will become the source of our shelter in the future. To keep a supply of world food, the farmer must plan from three to five years ahead for vegetables, grain, hay, meat. Here we have man, the start of all things which benefit mankind.

— And some of our friends draw pictures of the farmer with a straw in his mouth, a patch on his overalls, and words coming out his mouth which are stupid. The picture today would be truer if the farmer were drawn in a white coat as an assistant to the scientist in a fight to keep our produce and animals free of blight and disease so our food supply will be secured for the future.

The fall plowing is done. Let us take a walk back to the bush lot. It is a money-maker if we use it right. Take out the weed-trees and make more room. Cut out trees to make more top room. Don't cut trees around your buildings. The movement of the tree trunk in the wind prevents the earth from freezing to the tree. When the ground is frozen and we have rain or a thaw, the water runs down the tree trunk below the frost and feeds the springs which supply our wells.

Good farmers have their fence-rows clean of bush and trees. We are not so sure this is a good thing. The brush and trees in the fence rows give off moisture in hot weather and keep the hot winds off our crops. We could cut the brush and leave, or plant, good trees. The more trees we have, the better chance for good crops.

At a wood-lot sale, why not leave all trees three inches and under? There is very little wood in this size. Let them grow and keep the stock out of the bush. It is very poor pasture at the best. Plan instead on putting in some permanent pasture. Cheerio!

They left much food for thought with his listeners. The choir was assisted by Mrs. Peggy Clarke soloist of Markham who sang two beautiful solos at each service. ## A New Travel Ration Period

Begins

November 16th

AS ANNOUNCED BY THE MINISTER OF FINANCE
THE REGULATIONS GOVERNING THE USE OF
U.S. DOLLARS FOR TRAVEL CONTINUE IN FORCE.

As in the past, it will be necessary for Canadians to obtain a permit from their bank if they wish to take out of Canada more than $10 U.S. or more than $25 in U.S. and Canadian currency combined.

Reports show that the saving of U.S. dollars made possible by travel rationing can be expected to amount to between $40 and $50 million during the period November 16th, 1947 to November 15th, 1948. This substantial sum was thus made available for the purchase of many essential supplies and commodities during this time.

The regulations governing the amount of U.S. dollars available for different travel purposes are outlined below:—

Pleasure Travel

The maximum amount of U.S. dollars which any Canadian resident may obtain for pleasure travel purposes during the twelve months beginning November 16th, 1948, is $150. In the case of children of eleven years and under, the amount is $100. There is no restriction on the number of trips as long as the annual allotment is not exceeded. Any U.S. dollars obtained for one trip and not used on that trip must be brought back to Canada and exchanged for Canadian dollars at the traveller's bank immediately on his return. No credit for funds thus turned back can be allowed against the annual ration for subsequent trips.

Business Travel

Applications for U.S. dollars for business travel must include a certification by the employer that the travel is in his business interests. Reasonable amounts of U.S. dollars may be obtained for this purpose.

Border Travel

A Canadian resident may take out of Canada without a permit up to $25 in currency, of which not more than $10 is in U.S. currency. For this purpose, he may purchase up to $10 U.S. in any calendar month. This is in addition to the annual travel ration.

Preparing For Those School Days

The following is the text of a talk presented at the October meeting of the Home and School Association on the readiness of children for school. Prepared and given by Miss Ila Haines, teacher on the Alexander Muir school staff, it deals thoroughly with this important subject.

Are They Ready for School?
Your child's reactions to (as well as his actions in) the school he attends may color his whole future life. Unless he is able to make a satisfactory adjustment, he can't hope to be happy there, and unless he is happy he will not meet with the success which is his privilege and his right.

You can do much to help prepare him for happiness and success. It isn't just a matter of buying a new suit for Junior or some dresses for Sister. The home preparation of the child for school starts when he is born, continues up to his entrance into school, and on through all his school years. Parents are the world's original teachers. School training cannot replace home training. But working together, sharing the responsibility, home and school can achieve better standards of individual and group behavior. There are many things parents can do to help children make the transition from home to school. Most important is for the mother herself to establish a good relationship with the teacher, she leaves her child for the first time and passes him along to another adult. Visit the school at an arranged convenient time or attend a Home and School meeting to become acquainted with the teacher before your child goes to school.

It is the duty of parents to teach their children the meaning of discipline. There is nothing wrong, educationally, in teaching children to behave at an early age. Good discipline is a great advantage to a child, no matter where he goes or what happens to him. I mean by good discipline a reasonable control with which he can happily co-operate and under which he can learn to discipline himself. A child who is pampered and "spoiled" or a child who by a show of temper can bring his parents round to his way of thinking, expects everyone to give in to him. He is at a terrible disadvantage when he leaves the safe refuge of home for school life. He has not learned the valuable lesson that everyone has to do some things which he does not like, and each of us must all suffer some frustration of his wishes. Children should do something for somebody every day. On the other hand a child whose home discipline has been over severe grows up too timid to be able to manage well away from home, or he is so rebellious that he cannot co-operate with school discipline. A good home discipline begins in babyhood. Baby learns early that mother's "no" means "no". He learns to do things because they must be done, not to please mother, or to receive a bribe. Your child is not ready for school until he has learned to obey you. The same is true of respect for the property and rights of all children. It is the home's duty to teach the children the meaning of work. It is a fundamental life lesson. Learning to work is one of the keys to happiness. The ability to concentrate is a great asset, and the foundations are laid for this habit of persistence away back in childhood. A small child's toys should be sturdy things that he can "do things" with. Mother encourages him to play by himself and avoids the habit of entertaining him to keep him good.

She is careful not to interrupt him needlessly when he is absorbed in his play. These periods of absorption lengthen as he grows older and he learns to enjoy the effort he puts into play. Still later he learns that effort in work can be fun too but this will not come if parents put too much emphasis on success or failure. Everyone makes mistakes, and a child should not be blamed for his mistakes but encouraged to try again and to try his best even though someone else will do better. A child however cannot concentrate in school, even though good training has been given in the pre-school years if there is trouble at home such as parents quarrelling or jealousy. Every child ought to have definite daily tasks from a very early age. Before children enter school they should be taught to get along with others. If the child has a number of brothers and sisters he learns to give and take. If possible he should also have the chance to play with other children of his own age. In such play he learns to share his playthings and to take turns. Thus co-operation will not come too hard for him when he enters school.

Self-reliance is very important. Children should experience the joy of going to the store or to Sunday-school by themselves, then when they go to school for the first time they will see that nothing dreadful happens to them while away from their mother. Children should be shown the way they must go to and from school before the first day arrives. And of course impress on his mind the importance of waiting for a clear road before crossing the street. A child should know his own name, address, and telephone number and his father's name and occupation. The ability to identify himself gives him confidence. Each child should be able to put on and take off his own wraps and rubbers. Goloshes and rubbers should be large enough to go on with a minimum of grunting and perspiring. These should be plainly marked with his name so he may always recognize them. He should be able to open and close a zipper and tie his shoe laces if they become untied. He should have a handkerchief or facial tissue and know how to blow his nose. A child should be able to attend to his toilet needs and know how to ask politely to leave the room. He should be taught to take pride in personal cleanliness and neatness.

He should be taught to keep his hair orderly, his face, hands and fingernails immaculate, and his clothes clean. Teach him to use both feet in going up and down stairs. Teach him that there is a place for his toys and that they are to be put there when he is through using them. Children should get interested in books before they start to school, but do not teach the child to read. Nature's children play. Their play is undirected, carefree play in the open air. Learning to read demands mental-visual co-ordination that taxes every nerve in a small body. The very muscles used are seldom developed before a child is six or seven years old. Sometimes older. Studies show that the percent of nearsighted children is much higher among early readers.

Truly "the alphabet is as injurious to the child's eye as an unwise diet is to his stomach." Still more serious are the scars too early reading will leave on the child's nervous system. Educators agree that there are many things "Dickie" must learn before he starts to read. In fact until he learns some of these, his ability to read is practically worthless to him. The kindergarten gives the child this reading readiness. True some children develop younger than others. Johnny may be ready to read before either Susie or Bill, though they may be as bright, even brighter, Susie and Billie may not have walked or talked as soon as Johnny. If you know a child who could read at five and apparently suffered no ill effects he probably matured unusually young, and remember he may yet pay for his effort. The damage of too early reading on little eyes and little minds can be great. Writing is much the same. The little child's fingers are not ready to guide a pencil until his accessory muscles are in form for that activity. (continued next week)

TURGEON-JOHNSTON RITES AT RECTORY

At the rectory of St. John's church, Newmarket, October 16, Yvonne Victoria (Bunny), eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Johnston, became the bride of Mr. Wallace Turgeon, Leaside, in a double-ring ceremony. The bride looked lovely in a gown of ivory satin, the peplum falling into a long train. Her fingertip veil was held in place with a halo of satin trimmed with pearls. The gown and veil were made by the bride. Her only ornament was a fine gold chain with pearls, a gift of her late grandmother. She carried a bouquet of red roses with baby mums and fern. In attendance were Heather Johnston, sister of the bride, as maid of honor and gowning in rose taffeta, and Jo Johnston, bridesmaid, in blue taffeta with matching halos. Best man was Max Slezac. A reception was held in the Legion hall where the bride's mother received, wearing a steel grey crepe dress with matching accessories. She was assisted by the groom's sister in the unavoidable absence of his mother. Instead of the customary tossing of the bride's bouquet, it was sent to an aunt who has been an invalid for several years.

GOLDEN GLOW

says

We have all heard with dismay about the ducks coming down to rest in the waters of Lake St. Peter near Montreal in the St. Lawrence River this past week, and being unable to rise and continue their flight to the sunny south because of oil on their wings. Thousands of ducks annually drop down there for a rest on their long migration trip south. Game officials estimate that some 20,000 ducks have been rendered helpless by oil that leaked out of an oil tanker there, and have been destroyed, and not more than five percent of the flock which uses the lake as a stopping place on their way south are now alive. Of the number destroyed it was believed some 15,000 died in the water and had drifted out to sea or on to the shore. The rest died when taken into captivity by lake-shore residents.

True, all sorts of schemes were tried to remove the oil from the wings of the stranded ducks, but to no avail. Talk about the "Slaughter of the Innocents" — that surely describes it! Like every spring when the swans on their way back to the northland drop down on what they suppose to be quiet water — above the cataract of Niagara Falls — that long smooth stretch of water, flowing so very swiftly but appearing so innocent and peaceful, till they reach the brink when nothing can save them. Thousands are carried to their doom every year — and nothing anyone can do seems to avail in making them aware of their danger.

If they are frightened before reaching the brink, and rise up, they invariably drop down again as if they are joy-riding! How can one explain it? They must see their comrades carried over the brink — but still they pay no attention, and are "slain by thousands."

Bird-lovers long for some way to help these lovely wild fowl — but the birds do not co-operate, as you can see, and I suppose it must go on year after year till they are extinct. And too — what about the slaughter of the birds that dash themselves to death against the lamps at every light-house? There is absolutely nothing one can do to save them.

That reminds me of a little story I heard at Point Clark this summer. Whether this young gull had stunned itself by crashing against the lighthouse there was not known but it was so helpless that it didn't seem able to feed itself. The family in the next cottage to where we were Corliss, eight, has suddenly become a nervous high-strung child. If Corliss had always been like this, her case wouldn't be so unique. However, in her instance, it's been only a matter of a week since she first showed tendencies toward "jitters." Now, she jumps at the slightest provocation and seems continually uneasy.

A week ago, Corliss jumped, with good reason, when a truck back-fired directly in front of her. The suddenness unnerved her for the moment, and her companions have been making sport of her reactions ever since. On the way home that same day, her companions yelled at her, punched her, jumped at her and even pushed her toward a passing car just to make her scream and jump. By the time, Corliss arrived home, she was almost hysterical.

The next day was even more difficult for Corliss. More children had heard she jumped and screamed; and they, too, wanted to test her. Corliss didn't know who was going to do what or where. Now, she is plainly in a dither whenever anyone is within "Boo"ing distance. She's afraid something is going to happen.

The suggested treatment in this case is to explain that if she stops reacting to pokes, "boos," etc., other children will stop bothering her. Corliss will say that she has tried not to jump but she can't help it. Then it is time to prove to her that she can help it, that she doesn't have to jump. Write down all the ways children have been able to make her jump. Then one by one repeat the actions until Corliss realizes that none of them hurt her so she doesn't have to be afraid of them. Test her with the actions until she proves to herself she doesn't have to jump. There's no need to allow unnecessary fear to make a nervous wreck of any child.

told us they used to feed it all the time. They just used to step out and call "Birdie" and from somewhere down came the pet gull. All summer it stayed around, and was the pet of all the cottagers there — and our neighbors, who lived about 40 miles away and who used to go back to their cottage weekends till Thanksgiving, began to wonder what to do with it when they left for their home for good.

But the problem was solved in a most surprising way by the gull. One weekend they called and called, and no gull appeared and later that day one of the family was down on the beach and there was their pet gull lying there dead. It had tried to swallow a dead gull in its effort to feed itself, and had choked to death.

Oh I can't end up this way — such a tragic article! So let me tell of our sea-serpent at Point Clark. You know trees grow in the most fantastic shapes when bent by heavy winds and storms in such places as that on Lake Huron — and here was a tree, not a very large one — that was washed up on the beach, and looked just like a sea serpent with its head curved 'round looking over its shoulder. Our next door neighbor saw its possibilities and dragged it up to a spot in front of his cottage — and he painted it with staring eyes and mouth and a spotted body. Really it was a fine old sea serpent and everybody wanted their photo taken beside it.

Homemakers' Exchange

When planning meals for a family it is a good idea to think of the children first and on this foundation make the necessary alterations or additions to suit adult tastes. Keeping in mind that milk, eggs and fruit are necessary foods in the well-balanced diet of both child and adult, the dessert may include one or all of these. Thus it will be an important part of the meal.

SNOW SQUARES

- 1 Tsp. gelatine
2 Tbsp. cold water
½ Cup hot water (1 cup less 2 tbsps.)
1 Egg white
Dash of salt
6 Graham crackers, finely crushed.

Soak gelatine in cold water for 5 minutes. Add hot water and stir until dissolved. Cool. Place unbeaten egg white in a bowl. Add gelatine, sugar and salt. Beat until mixture holds a firm peak. Pour into mould which has been greased and rinsed in cold water. Mixture should be at least 2" thick. Chill. Cut in squares and roll in fine graham cracker crumbs. Serve with sauce. Yield: six servings.

LEMON FOAM SAUCE

- 1 Egg yolk
Dash of salt
1 Tbsp. butter, melted
1 Tbsp. lemon juice
1 Tsp. grated lemon rind
½ Cup cream, whipped

Beat egg yolk until lemon-colored and thick. Add sugar, salt and melted butter, and beat until sugar is dissolved. Add lemon juice and rind and beat until blended. Chill thoroughly. Shortly before serving fold in whipped cream. Yield: six servings.

BAKED APPLES WITH OATMEAL

- 6 Medium-sized apples
½ Cup cooked rolled oats
¼ Cup brown sugar
½ Cup water

Wash and core apples, place in pan and fill centres with cooked oatmeal to which has been added half the brown sugar. Sprinkle remaining sugar over the tops of the apples, pour water into the pan and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) until apples are tender, about 45 minutes. Serve hot or cold with cream, top milk or custard sauce. Yield: six servings.

FRUIT BLANG MANGE

- 6 Tbsp. cornstarch
¼ Cup sugar
½ Cup cold milk
2 Cups hot milk
½ Tsp. almond extract
2 Cups frozen or canned fruit

Combine cornstarch, sugar and salt and blend with cold milk. Add slowly to hot milk in top of double boiler and cook, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens. Cook for three minutes. Remove from heat and add flavoring. Chill well. Beat until smooth. In the bottom of each serving dish arrange fruit (if frozen, partially thaw). Then top with blanc mange. Serve with top milk or cream. Yield: 6 servings.

Aurora Music Club To Hear Edna Jaques

Aurora—The Music club is deviating from its usual musical program for the month of November and will present, instead, the well-known poetess and author, Miss Edna Jaques, in a lecture on The Alaska Highway at Trinity hall on November 19 at 8.30 p.m. Edna Jaques has travelled throughout Canada on an average of 10,000 miles a year during the past ten years in connection with university extension work, and has lectured widely for all types of organizations, including church groups and service clubs. Her hobby is writing. She has had six books of poetry published—all of them best sellers—and has also done many feature articles for newspapers, magazines and the radio.

Miss Jaques is the fortunate possessor of a gracious personality, a sense of humor, a flair for the artistic and the ability to tell her story well.

Re-Elect W. R. Stevens Music Club President

The Common Round...

By Isabel Inglis Colville

"SPLENDID YOU PASSED"

"O valiant hearts, who to your glory came Through dust of conflict and through battle flame;
Tranquil you lie, your knightly virtue proved,
Your memory hallowed in the land you loved."

As each succeeding November 11 comes around, we who have lived through two great wars, look back and try to assess what addition they have made to the sum of human happiness — or misery. For one thing, they jolted us awake from the sleep of smug security which long years of freedom from wars had given us. For another they awakened us to the fact that we were not without a real responsibility toward the rest of the world.

We were so wrapped up in the swaddling clothes of a young nation that it took the terrible impact of war to release us and to show us our place among the nations. Who, of those who have lived that long, do not remember the summer of the first World War?

Archie and I were spending it with cousins at Christip Lake in Lanark county and I remember how the men who never before cared when we got the mail, rowed every evening to the head of the lake to get the papers a few hours earlier.

And I can see one young cousin, just approaching his 18th birthday, walking with his mother and discussing the possible routes the German army might take, and the way his mother watched him, for she knew the determination that was hardening to resolve in his heart, while I too, waited, knowing those gorgeous summer days were probably the last carefree ones I would know for—well—one knew not how long.

And all over Canada, wives and mothers, sisters and sweethearts, watched with eyes new to this sort of pain as those dearest to them donned the khaki and marched away; some thought to a great adventure; some felt the grim reality, but of all you could say with the part:

"Proudly you gathered, rank on rank to war,
As who had heard God's message from afar;
All you had hoped for, all you had you gave,
To save mankind—yourself you scorned to save."

News 'n' Views

By George Haskett

A pleasant subject comes to mind to start off this week's chatter. To those chaps and there are quite a number asking in Aurora, Bradford, Sutton and the canolton, interested in the Metropolitan league, league prexy Johnnie Hines outlined the proposal to Geo. Panter, O.H.A. president, and the latter seemed to be enthusiastic about the set-up. So folks, there shouldn't be any difficulty on that score. The league of course, as we said before, will affiliate directly with the O.H.A. intermediate series. That, of course, means O.H.A. rules all down the line.

Our side kick, Ab "Down the Centre" Hulse, brought it up last week, the Markham-Stouffville feud. Latest advice is that the two teams, locked in a ding-dong battle for players, are going to throw the whole mess right into the laps of the O.H.A. executive for decision. If those top executives sitting in on the decision are in their right minds, they'll settle this business of players hopping here, there and everywhere once and for all.

We don't think there will be many to argue with us when we say both the Victoria Square (Stouffville) Juniors and Markham intermediates set-up last winter was the joke of the shoot and skate society. Finally, when the true facts were out in the open, both teams were boosted up to their proper ratings. Rightly so, too, for their home town talent was to all intents and purposes nil.

Which gives us an opening to say Newmarket hockey executives could, if their thoughts strayed that way, make it a three-corner fight for three or perhaps four of last year's Hoffman regulars who are out with Stouffville. But their feelings aren't running in that direction at the moment. Our own crier, if we had one, would be singing out with something like this: Calling all skiers! Don't forget Wednesday, Nov. 17, 8 p.m. at the fire hall. New plans, new trails, new executive. All downhill runners and jumpers are welcome but definitely!

There's a job going begging right now. No, it's not resetting the electric clock, ladies. It's that secretary's chore in the metropolitan league. The delegates at their recent conclave indicated "Mickey" Smith their choice. "Mickey" has had to decline. He's moved in to head the sports committee of the Canadian Legion. That latter commitment, we're told, will keep him busy.

Harvey Gibney expects to branch out into a full-time O.B.A. referee this winter. "Gib" should make a top performer for he knows the game and picked up some valuable experience in the O.M.H.A. circuit this semester. Bob Peters and Barney Revell attended the O.M.H.A. referees' convention last Thursday at Bolton. Who should be on hand to greet them—as one of the chief instructors no less—than Mo Walsh. The pair report an interesting session.

Newmarket Nimrods In North Woods

Newmarket—"The Call of the Wild" is not going unheeded by Newmarket hunters this fall. One of the largest contingents in years has deserted the town life for a sojourn in the north woods in search of deer, bear, and possibly moose.

The Falcon Club was one of the first to push off with Bert Morrison and Harry Richardson, the Newmarket members, Dr. G. E. Macpherson and Joe Case from Mount Albert, and Percy Richmond from Keswick. Bert Morrison and Harry Richardson returned Monday after a week's stay. Harry Richardson bringing down a bear. The club hunts in the Baywater district north of the French River.

Another club of well known nimrods operating out of Van-koughnet (near Gravenhurst), is made up of Howard and Ted Williamson, Jerry Gormann, Roy Church and Joe Woodcock. Doug

Vets Take First Of Soccer Finals

Supporters of the Vets' football crew are making plans to polish off the Davis Leather Trophy. They are running through the opposition on the boot trail without a loss to their record. Tuesday night, the victims of their educated toes were the Office Specialty in the initial game of the indoor soccer finals. The Vets came out on top 1-0. They were just a bit quicker and slicker on the attack. One more victory will give them the championship.

The Specialty put up a great battle in this one. They slugged it out on even terms with the winners most of the way. Their forwards just weren't Johnny-on-the-spot when the scoring opportunities came up. Tod Mosier with his hot shot blocking proved a tough nut to crack. They're beginning to dub him "Mr. Zero". He now has gone three successive games without being beaten in his goal fort. Eddie Russell on the Vets' back wall put in a highly commendable chore.

"Hot Shot" Bill Johnston put himself right in the spot light when he whacked in the lone—and game-winning—Vets' tally early in the first session.

To bring you up to date, here are those semi-final tussles of last week. The first games both ended in deadlocks. In the second halves, the Specialty eased out a 2-1 win over Sangamo to put the skids under the electric. Gord Cook and Howie Peterman slapped in the Specialty markers. Ted Taylor got the loner for Sangamo. In the night-cap the results were revolting to say the least for "Ceegeers" McDonald and his Hoffman punters as the Vets ousted them 2-0. "Hot Shot" Bill Johnston and Freddie Dillman did the successful foot tossing for the winners.

The teams: Vets: T. Mosier, C. Gunn, E. Russell, D. Smith, W. Johnston, N. Legge, S. Gibbons, M. Broughton, I. Gibson, K. Groves, J. Caradonna, M. McInnis, F. Dillman. Specialty: M. Ruddock, J. Hisey, P. Preston, D. Beattie, J. Norlock, N. Skead, G. Cook, P. Myers, H. Peterman, C. VanZant.

Sangamo: W. Hillaby, F. Gardiner, W. Cain, J. Cain, G. Newton, J. Eustace, P. Knowles, D. Wilkins, B. Burch, T. Taylor, R. Greenfield.

Hoffman: T. Rogers, B. Ben-ville, I. Ruddock, V. Langford, J. Beattie, S. Robinson, A. Elphinstone, R. Smalley, A. Kent, G. Anthony, J. Proud, referees, H. Gwyn, A. Osselson, J. Beattie.

New St. John's Wing Nears Completion

Newmarket—The new wing on St. John's school, started in July, is expected to be completed within two weeks according to Father T. J. McCabe. The new wing consists of two rooms with folding doors between them which can be opened to make one large room.

One room will be an office suitable for a nurse and the larger room, to be used as a classroom will have a seating capacity for forty children.

Intermediate Trials Begin Sunday

Get up! Get up! Rise and shine, all you intermediate O.H.A. hockey players. If you've a hankering to make the Newmarket squad, here's the gen. Bring along your fastest skating legs, and any and all your hockey apparel, report to the Newmarket arena, Sunday, Nov. 14, at 8.15 a.m. Courage men! After this initial early bird special, practices will swing over to the afternoon. But this Sunday 9.30 a.m. to 11.30 a.m. was the only time available at Barrie. The welcome mat—it goes without saying—is out for all with a special "howdy do" to last year's Hoffman and over-age juniors from the Gapeos. Manager Johnnie Hines is out after a big handsome turnout.

Midgets Switch From 'Ball To Soccer

Those two midget softball teams, the Dodgers and Braves, who tried knocking the bejabbers out of each other in the softball finals, turned to indoor soccer Tuesday evening. For 44 minutes and 50 seconds, the Braves looked as though they might get revenge for the licking they took from the Dodgers on the ball field. Early in the second period Ivan Bray booted in a goal for the Braves. That lead held until the last ten seconds of play. Then it was that Dodger Johnny DeLaHaye, who was a busy lad indeed, switching from goal to forward to kick that all important tying goal. And that's how it ended, a 1-1 stalemate after five minutes of overtime. The teams just naturally are asking for a return go—but the outlook doesn't look too bright at the moment.

Dodgers: B. Forhan, R. Dick, J. DeLaHaye, J. Steadman, B. Burch, A. Martin, W. Mair. Braves: W. Cain, T. Taylor, D. Brice, I. Bray, J. Sweeney, D. Lyons, B. Hodgins, E. Rideout. Referee: F. Hollingsworth.

SPORTS SNAPSHOTS

Earl Robinson, back in 1934-35, was a member of the Stanley Cup winning Montreal Maroons club and a teammate of Newmarket's Herbie Cain, just making his debut in pro hockey at that time. After a sojourn with New York Americans, and a safari into minor league hockey, Earl retired to Toronto. He's been coaxed by Harry Watts to coach Markham Millionaires intermediate entry. Robinson should do a good chore for he learned his hockey in a rugged school (Hooley Smith, Baba Siebert, Nels Stewart, etc.) The Millionaires have Jackie Watson and Chuck Nesbitt back in the fold and from former junior clubs, "Pesky" Wetherall, Vic Meharg and Jerry Junkin have decided to stage comebacks. The scramble for players get warmer each week. It promises to be an interesting season from the coaching angle with Red Mitchell trotting out Aurora Juniors this week, Dodger Collins in charge of the Bradford intermediate club, Jackie Watson making his debut at Unionville, Ernie Lawrie changing over to Stouffville, Ken Bayle in charge at Sutton and Hoffmans seeking a new mentor for the Newmarket club.

From the Maritimes comes a letter from Bob Bangay and George Stark, two of your favorite puck-chasers. Both lads want to keep in touch with North York sports front and are being added to the list of Era and Express subscribers. They are located with North Sydney Victorias, and as an indication of enthusiasm, they point to the fact that the club expected to raise only about two grand by public subscription but obtained over six. Both boys are ready to do or die for Cape Breton gold, and coach Swat Mason, ex-Hamilton Tigers.

Quite a collection of well known players are gathered with the Vets, including "Dusty" Rhodes, "Mooney" Gibson and Jack Shropshire from Georgetown, Dusty Millar from South Porcupine, Doug Rutliff, Hamilton, Jack Dyer, ex-Barrie and St. Louis, and none other than Jack Curtis who was with Aurora Tigers in 1940 before joining the army when he came of age. Curtis was a great favorite with the fans and just about as tidy a blueliner as ever toled a puck in these parts. While there are lots of well known names down East, two more names will ring more familiarly in your ears. Bill Armstrong, ex-Aurora and Markham Junior, is with Glace Bay and Joe Szabo, who was the leading scorer in the district O.H.A. group in 1942 with Brampton camp, is pivoting a line for St. John's Beavers. It's "go east young man" (and oldsters, too), in Canadian hockey.

Charlie Rowntree and his good wife have taken over the management of Elm Park at Woodbridge and you'll find welcome on the doormat be it for dancing, skating or just a chat when you drive along No. 7 highway. Don Durean, now attending St. Michael's College, has won himself a place on St. Mike's Beas (the third team) who perform at Varsity arena. The youngster, who comes from good hockey stock, looked good last year with Newmarket midgets. McKnight Clement, partly Stouffville defence-man and ace Aurora catcher, will be in action in the same group with Varsity Juniors.

Leonard Simmons and the Aurora management are expecting great things this year from Bill Mulholland, Ken and Ordo Thom, Don Gibson and one or two others from canolton who will revive the good old days by collaborating with Aurora. With Douglas Moore, Richmond Hill, who has been a stand-out in the note for Stouffville the past two years, ready to play with Aurora, and holdovers from last winter including Tom Simmons, Jack Andrews, Tommy Brodie, Bill Attridge, Bill Patrick and Bill Wilkinson, a strong contending Junior C team is available. Good coaching, and Mitchell should provide that this year, will do the rest.

Sutton, it is understood, will definitely enter a Junior team this year. A bridge is still waiting to find suitable grouping and of course Unionville is well underway. North Toronto Lions and Weston, who are slated for Junior B, are likely to house-up for the winter at Richmond Hill arena and they doubtless would be added to a district Junior group. The situation looks quite a bit brighter than it did a few weeks ago.

Apologies to Bert Bell, the Stouffville hockey maestro whose name was omitted last week in some way when we were giving you the Stouffville picture. With Bert at the helm Stouffville is ready to co-operate in every way possible with other towns so that all may enjoy a successful season.

Keep Sense Of Humor Newly-Weds Advised

Newmarket—"The channels of normal communication should be kept open and a sense of humor retained to make marriage successful," Rev. Douglas Davis, Stouffville, told the 50-50 club in Trinity United church on Monday night. He stressed the importance of the engagement period before marriage as a "get-acquainted" period and said that "the community and society wants your marriage to be a happy one for all time".

Marjorie Armour delighted the group with two piano solos and popular songs from Oklahoma were sung by the audience. Plans were completed for the 50-50 church service in Trinity United church Sunday evening, Nov. 21.

Outstanding Dietitian Kathleen L. Jeffs Dies

One of Canada's outstanding dietitians, Miss Kathleen L. Jeffs, of Toronto and Montreal, died in Toronto Western Hospital after a lengthy illness.

For 25 years she was a member of the T. Eaton Co. staff and was head dietitian of the Montreal store.

She was the sister of Mrs. Clare Shaw, Schomberg.

During the war, Miss Jeffs was given leave of absence and became chief messing officer of the RCAF, with the rank of wing officer, supervising all food served to the men and women in six commands of Canada, in Newfoundland, Labrador and overseas. Gracious and efficient, she became known to thousands of service personnel from coast to coast and was awarded the MBE in recognition of her services. A painting of Miss Jeffs now hangs in the University of Toronto and was purchased by contributions of RCAF women across Canada.

Born at Bond Head, she graduated from the University of Toronto with a Bachelor of Arts degree in household science. She recently resigned the presidency of the Canadian Dietetic Association and was a member of the Canadian Home Economics Association and the University Women's Club of Montreal.

Her father, H. B. Jeffs of Toronto, and two sisters, Mrs. G. Douglas Jeffs, Toronto, and Mrs. Clare Shaw, Schomberg, survive. Funeral service was held in St. George's United Church on Wednesday, Nov. 3.

ONTARIO'S products are desired and purchased by people all over the world and the capacity to produce such goods largely determines the economic welfare of every man, woman and child within her borders. Because the sale of every article produced in Ontario brings valuable dollars into this Province, we all are more assured of job security... and we and our children can have more of the better things in life. To produce such goods in sufficient quantities, skilled labour is vital. That is why every single one of us should be glad that war veterans are constantly being trained to provide the skilled hands so needed by industry. Veterans receive ON THE JOB training under expert instructors in our Ontario factories.

This training, provided through the co-operation of the Department of Veterans Affairs, the Federal Department of Labour and the Ontario Department of Education, starts veterans off on the road to skilled craftsmanship. Taught to use their hands in general aero engine and airframe work, both on military and civilian aircraft, these veterans may qualify for a Department of Transport license, authorizing them to declare aircraft airworthy. In aircraft manufacturing plants and on flying fields throughout Ontario, these newly-skilled veterans will have the opportunity to apply their talents and training. Their efforts will help to make Ontario a finer place in which to live and will contribute to the welfare and happiness of all her citizens.

AERO ENGINE MECHANICS

H. Perry, 25, of Oshawa, Ontario, a Canadian Army veteran, is shown making an adjustment to the engine of a Cub Trainer. Students work on various types of aircraft ranging from the Cub Trainer to multiple engine military aircraft. Many veterans, trained as ground crew specialists during the war, have chosen to take post-war training in this occupation for which they are particularly suited. For them the transition to peace-time employment has been easier.
